Jewish Life in 21st Century Turkey: The Other Side of Tolerance

Marcy Brink-Danan, Hebrew University

Tuesday
February 12 • 12 PM
CCAS Boardroom,
ICC 241

Turkey is famed for a history of tolerance toward minorities and there is a growing nostalgia for the 'Ottoman Mosaic'. Marcy Brink-Danan examines what it means for Jews to live as a tolerated minority in contemporary Istanbul. Brink-Danan explores the contradictions and gaps in the popular ideology of Turkey as a land of tolerance, describing how Turkish Jews manage the tensions between cosmopolitanism and patriotism, difference as Jews and sameness as Turkish citizens, tolerance and violence.

Marcy Brink-Danan is a professor in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Hebrew University.

RSVP requested. A light lunch will be served.
